

Poverty Law V: Building Connections

Bloomington, Indiana

April 5-6, 2024

We are pleased to announce a call for papers for “Poverty Law: Building Connections” to be hosted by Indiana University Maurer School of Law on April 5-6, 2024. This conference is meant to be a gathering, similar to previous poverty law conferences, for all those whose work focuses on poverty, disadvantaged populations, and inequality. Many of the sessions will include paper presentations, but we will also have roundtable discussions on the morning of April 6th. There are three main lines to the conference:

1. Building Connections Across Regions, Disciplines, and Domains
2. Teaching Poverty Law
3. Topics in Poverty (subject matter not limited in any way)

The proposal submission form can be found here.

The submission deadline is Nov. 17, 2023. Please contact Andrew Hammond (andhamm@iu.edu) or Ezra Rosser (erosser@wcl.american.edu) with any question. Please note there is a $100 conference registration fee and presenters are responsible for their own travel expenses. We look forward to seeing you in April 2024!
